Denomination's Unalakleet High School Graduates a Class of Eight Teen-Agers

The 1961 class of Covenant High School, Unalakleet, Alaska, poses for a picture. Commencement exercises were held at the school on Tuesday May 16. The Baccalaureate service was held Sunday, May 14.

Eight young people make up the 1961 class of Covenant High School, Unalakleet, Alaska.

Five of the graduates are planning to continue their studies at the University of Alaska, where they have been accepted, and two will attend Covenant Bible Seminary, Unalakleet.

Graduation exercises were held in Unalakleet Tuesday evening, May 16, with Mr. Stanley M. Rottrup of Anchorage, Alaska district sales manager for Texaco, Inc., as speaker. Mr. Rottrup is a native of Aberdeen, Washington, and a former Covenant Youth of America vice-president.

The Baccalaureate service was held Sunday, May 14, at the local Covenant church with the Rev. Paul B. F. Carlson of the Bible Seminary faculty as speaker.

This is Covenant High School's seventh year of operation and its fourth graduating class.

Iowa

Churches Hold Service To Dedicate Seed, Soil

Two Iowa Covenant churches shared in a Montgomery County ministerial association Rural Life Sunday service early last month.

They were Mission Covenant Church, Stanton, of which the Rev. Sam Diskerd is pastor, and First Covenant Church, Red Oak, with the Rev. Raymond A. Johnson, minister.

Pastor Diskerd offered the evening prayer, and Pastor Johnson read the scripture lessons.

Principal part of the service was a dedication of "seed, soil, and sower." After the seed was presented by the president of the Montgomery County farm bureau and the soil by the chairman of the district commissioners, a prayer of blessing was offered by Mr. Stanley Dunn of the county's extension service.

The message of the evening was brought by the Rev. Charles R. Martin, who is director of town and country work for the Iowa Baptist Convention.
